

SOUTHAMPTON ORIENTEERING CLUB

the

RESULTS of the 22nd NOVEMBER CLASSIC and NATIONAL EVENT VIII

RANKING EVENT

Sunday 5th November 1989

PLANNERS' COMMENTS

Tim Holt and Garry McEwen

We hope that you enjoyed the courses in what we believe is one of the best Orienteering areas in the New Forest. The decision to locate the White start so far from the Assembly area was made in order that almost all senior A courses could use the most technical part of the area. For a National Event we felt that this was justified. To accommodate some competitors' preferences we located the shorter B courses at the Red start.

The results indicate that some of the senior men's courses were a little too long but our feeling was that the area was affected by the weather and seemed slower on the day than expected.

We used "The Planner's Assistant" BBC micro-computer program to keep track of control sites, measure course lengths and produce control descriptions. There is an initial effort required to enter the necessary data but the initial investment is worthwhile and we would certainly recommend the programme for large events. The author is John Morris, 031-667-4051.

Our particular thanks go to Brian Parker, Richard Moss and Gerry Barrell.

ORGANISER'S COMMENTS

Terry Smith

Tradition has it that SOC's November Classic Organiser sleeps on site on the eve of the event to guard the tents etc etc. This year it was my turn; penitence for retiring on day one of the Karrimor? Well after the fireworks had subsided, I settled into my sleeping bags (it was cold) feeling at one with nature, and having marvelled at the crystal clear sky and the millions of stars normally obscured by city lights.

At 0200h the boy-racers were still screaming round the assembly area in their Capris. Would they come through the tent? What hadn't I covered in the organisation? I seemed to spend forever going over and over the days arrangements. No, I was confident that our team leaders had covered everything. The dawn began crisp, clear and bright and with the Royal Marines setting up their own orienteering event amongst our courses! I have admit, I hadn't covered that one. Things were bound to get better.

We hope that you all enjoyed the courses provided by Tim and Garry. It is an unfortunate feature of this area that the prime orienteering terrain is at the opposite end of the map to the car-parking area and loos. We hope that the quality of the courses compensated for the long walks. These distances caused several organisational problems. These were mainly communication difficulties but it did stretch our manpower resources to the limit. Thanks are due to members of SUOC and the Army Cadets for their assistance on the day, to the 3rd New Forest Scouts for loan of equipment and the Forestry Commission for their willing assistance. Sincere thanks are due to members of SOC for helping in their second major event of the year (we also did the British Relays) and especially to the team leaders and their deputies for making my job so much easier than it might have been.

It was a consequence of a shortage of helpers that we did not get part 1 maps to enquiries at 1300h as promised in the Final Details. Our apologies for that. I also have to eat humble pie and offer apologies to those few people who found they had to share a start time with another competitor on the same course. Again I must beg your forgiveness and hope it did not spoil your run too much. Prize giving was delayed for an hour from my over-optimistic 1430h timing due to a combination of the physical distances involved, indistinct punching, and the need to reconcile late changes to the entries.

I hope the inclusion of speed (minutes per km) and TSB Ranking Points is a useful addition to the results. My thanks go to Brian Watkins of Cardinal Computers for his enthusiastic co-operation in this venture.

Entries and results were produced on IBM PC compatible equipment. A battery-powered portable computer was used at the event, running custom software written to integrate with an entry database, a spreadsheet and the ranking list program. The data was fed into a wordprocessor to produce these final results. If future event organisers would like to make use of the system, contact me on (0703) 845787.

Competitors may care to note that they will greatly ease the very considerable work load of entries secretaries if they correctly and fully complete their entry forms (and not scraps of paper!). One extra minute spent on each of 1500 entries amounts to an extra 25 hours! Remember, one day it could be your job! Apparently not a single entrant from Middlesex Orienteers correctly quoted their club abbreviation (MDDXO).

PRIZES

"E" and "A" class winners may collect their prizes from enquiries at the Concorde Chase. If you or a colleague will be unable to collect your dish, ring Terry Smith.

LOST PROPERTY

One Orienteering shoe, one and a half pairs of gloves and a compass marked KSODA.

CONTROLLER'S COMMENTS

BRIAN PARKER

You may be surprised to learn this, but one of the most significant features of this year's November Classic was a large fungus, a fine example of the species, Amanita muscaria or fly agaric. This lay on the walk to the starts next to the notice which pointed to the red start. Over a thousand competitors had passed this magnificent specimen, many had even stopped to admire it, and no-one had kicked it in.

You might wonder why this was particularly significant. It is not that your Controller had been nibbling magic mushrooms in order to get a new perspective on the sport. One of my duties at the event was to host a Very Important Person, someone who might have considerable influence on the future of orienteering in the New Forest. I had to show him what the sport is all about. He was concerned about litter and the impact of orienteers on the environment. I was able to show him that we generate very little litter indeed and the clearing up that we do brings in considerable rubbish deposited by the dear old general public. As to environmental impact, the Fly Agaric sitting there untouched spoke eloquently of the responsible and caring attitude of orienteers for the environment. This, coupled with a visit to one of the first control sites to see the low level of disturbance there, has converted an opponent into someone who, at very least, will give us a fair hearing in the future.

What about the other significant features of the event; the planning and organisation? It would be grossly unjust of me if I did not give them the praise they so richly deserve. Both were very carefully and intelligently prepared. The chief planner, Tim Holt, and the organiser, Terry Smith, and their respective teams are to be congratulated on producing a National Event of the proper standard. This is not to say that everything was perfect. The occasional duplication in the start lanes was a nuisance to those affected; the hanging of punches was not as good as it could have been; the time required for handling results and processing them through the computer was underestimated.

Read this, it might apply to you. My philosophy of controlling, when considering potential disqualifications, is that, if the competitor appears to have acted in good faith and there is reasonable evidence that the course has been completed correctly, then the result stands. So, to the lady who thought she had entered W21E but arrived at the start with a W21A card to find the W21A lane already occupied and was diverted by the start team to W21E, your result stands but there are easier ways of getting the run you want! To the shop owner who took the control card for another event to the start and started at the wrong time, your correct time stands but don't expect the same leniency next year when I join your age group! To those few top competitors in M21E and M35A who handed in scruffy control cards with wayward and incomplete punching, I had real problems in convincing myself that you had completed your courses correctly; you really were within an ace of being disqualified!

Finally, I find that effective controlling at a distance is only feasible if I can have a local assistant controller on whom I can rely totally for checking details between finalisation of the courses and the event weekend itself. Richard Moss was an assistant par excellence and I thank him most sincerely.
